PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE Debbie Andrews

I'm so honored and humbled to be leading the Twin Lakes Improvement Association along with 14 board members. These dedicated men and women give of their time and energy to help maintain the historic natural resources of Twin Lakes. The board continues to work on projects benefiting the entire watershed. I would ask you to reach out and thank your board members for their dedication and commitment to keeping Twin Lakes a place for future generations to enjoy. I would be remiss if I did not thank members of TLIA who volunteer, support financially and provide materials for projects impacting the quality of Twin Lakes.

Many have informed me they believe they are members of TLIA because they receive a newsletter, this assumption is incorrect. We send the newsletter out in accordance with TLIA's bylaws which allows membership within a one-mile radius of the lake. I want to encourage you to join this worthwhile organization even if you are just a recreational user of the lake. Together we can make a difference.

Our Annual meeting will quickly be upon us. Please save the date and plan to attend this educational meeting. I look forward to your participation.

Best Regards Debbie Andrews President TLIA

FAMILY HISTORY- TWIN LAKES IDAHO

The Twin Lakes community is like a family. Over the years, we each have a connection to this place and to each other. Each year we like to provide an article of a family that has been involved at the lakes. This year we would like to share the story of the Mary Hogan's family.

Lapping Waters

For several years, my parents, Bill and Jane Hogan, along with my aunt and uncle, Don and Carol Bosch would vacation down at Twin Echo Resort on Lower Twin Lakes with children in tow. It was 1964 when the two couples bought the property known as Foote's Resort from my dad's aunt, Elma Hogan. The property was pie shaped, consisted of three lots with the main store building at the top of the property located on Lane 4 of the lower lake and the boat house below, right on the water's edge. They purchased the property for a total of $15,000 and split it between the two families. The Bosch's chose the store building as it was larger and they had 6 children, and my parents took the smaller located on the lake as they had 3 kids at the time. I arrived a bit later in 1967. There was a small sign that was on the outside of our cabin that read "Lapping Waters". It was quite fitting as in the spring and early summer if the water was high, it would go under our cabin, and you could fall asleep to the sound of the lapping waters under foot. Our folks had a deal that should either family want to sell; they would give the other family first right of refusal.

When we first moved into the cabins, they didn't have running water. We would go down to the lake and tote water back to boil, do dishes, rinse, etc. It wasn't until 1970 that water was made available to the sites. Once school was out for the summer, my mother, Jane and her sister Carol would bring all the kids to the lake. We had no phones, television, anything of the sort, but we had our imaginations! We played games such as Life, Monopoly, and cards. We drew pictures, fished, swam, boated, sang songs, read books, rode minibikes, had bon fires, roasted marshmallows and went on hikes. All of us knew how to water ski by the time we were five years old. In winter, we would go to the cabin and shovel the frozen lake and ice skate. We would get warm inside as mom and dad would build a fire in the big cast iron stove and heat the whole place! It would get so warm in there; we had to open one of the many windows to cool down in the middle of winter! It was wonderful!

It was 1971; my dad decided to get a new boat, unknown to my mother. He came home from Trudeau's Marina towing a beautiful 17-foot metallic green Jolly Roger boat! It was stunning! It had a Mercruiser 120 HP engine and was a thing of beauty cutting through the refreshing waters of Twin Lakes. It had a black interior and a thick black stripe down the center. We would pull my brother, Mike skiing from our cabin down to Twin Echo to fill up with gas. Mike would wait on the swim dock while we parked at the gas dock. I would run and hit the button for the gas attendant, then race to the top of the hill for some penny candies and run back to the boat before they would be finished. The whole time while we were at the dock, people would come up and tell us what a beautiful boat we had. My dad was so proud of the boat and made sure we all took great care of it. The wake behind the boat was perfect for skiing. My brother, Pat, was quite the performer and would jump off the dock into the lake on trick skis. We would tow him around the lake and he would do split eagle jumps, turns and flips! On many occasions, we would pile into the boat and head over to the cliffs. Many of us would swing off the rope swing that hung over the lake by a very crooked tree while the braver souls would hike up to the top of the cliffs and jump for their thrill! You may still see the green boat on the lake today as my father sold it prior to his passing to a fellow neighbor who admired it throughout the years.

The summer of 1973, other families on the lake, the Hays, Bosch's, Hogan's, Herek's, Haspedis' and a few more families thought it would be interesting to see how many skiers we could tow behind the Hays' boat. Everyone started on two skis and those who could slalom were located on the outer lines. The slalom skiers would drop a ski once everyone was up and a pick-up boat would follow behind to scoop the skis left behind. I believe the total was 13 skiers at one time!

As time passed, my family sold our portion of the lot to our cousins in the 1980s. Our cabin was taken down, but our memories are still very much intact. We all thank our parents for a wonderful place to learn and grow together as a family, to bring our friends, and to enjoy the beauty of Twin Lakes.

Three of us now have our own cabins on the lake and continue sharing the love and laughter and stories with our children and friends. The lake has always been a place to stay grounded, to slow yourself during the fast pace of life and a place that we hold close in our hearts.

Fish Creek Restoration Project – 2017 Update

Over the years, I've updated the association on the Fish Creek Restoration Project. We've seen its development from a concern over water quality, thru the discussions on how to address the issues, to developing a game plan and gathering support from association members. We worked to make the project come to life with the help of hundreds of volunteers who provided thousands of hours of their time. The main portion of the project was completed in 2015. As with any large restoration project, there is always the maintenance. This is to ensure that all the work and money expended has continued value for many years (and generations) to come. This is part of our obligation when we obtained the Department of Environmental Quality $319 Grant and our agreement with the Easterday family.

During 2016, maintenance was performed in the project area. Volunteers helped remove thistle, which is an invasive plant, and other weeds, clear overgrown grass from around pine trees and clean up the site. Fence work was performed to move the existing fence lines in toward the stream. This allowed fenced protected areas, originally needed for construction equipment, to be returned to pasture areas needed for the cattle.

Today, the restoration project is performing as planned. Sediment is no longer eroding the stream banks, due to the rocks, logs and thousands of plants volunteers installed. The plants and trees are growing and solidifying the stream banks. This is causing shade over the water, which in turn is cooling the water. It is believed that this will affect fish habitat returning to the stream over the coming years. The cattle are restricted to the two cattle crossing to move from pasture to pasture. They have access the water they need but no longer meander up and down the streams.

In 2017, the Idaho Department of Environmental Quality allocated an additional $1,500 towards the Fish Creek project. Additional plants and material were purchased which will be installed at the project site over this summer. Some repairs were identified in 2016 and will be addressed this year. We will also work on moving additional fencing to return more area to pasture. Volunteers are always welcome to help on the site. You can contact any of your Board members to offer your help.

FireSmart

Kootenai County

Office of Emergency Management

The Firesmart program grant is intended to serve as a resource for communities and residents to work with local agencies, and fire departments toward a common goal: to reduce the loss of lives properties and resources to wildfire. Homeowners' desiring assistance with mitigation of vegetation around their property is offered as a free property review. This will specifically identify what actions to take to prepare their home and property for wildfire. Funding is currently available for defined areas of the county and, contingent upon a property owner's approval, properties that are reviewed and found to qualify for financial assistance will be eligible for mitigation actions to be completed by FireSmart contracted services. Upon completion of that work, homeowners agree to provide the necessary means to maintain the project for ten years.

The grant provided $240,000 for the Twin Lakes and Spirit Lake area. The required matching funds are $19,000.00 for in-kind services and volunteer hours. We have several Twin Lakes area residents who turn in the fire smart tracking forms amounting in approximately $9600.00. We are making great progress towards our commitment.

This is where we need our help, Take the form in the newsletter and fill it out with any activities you normally do to clean up around your home every spring and fall. Any time or money you spend on your home or surrounding property for the purpose of reducing the possibility of wildfire. Idaho Mission Project

The Twin Lakes Improvement Association partners with many volunteer groups to accomplish its goals for the Twin Lakes watershed. This year, their partnership with the Idaho Mission Project (IMP), a volunteer organization run at Twinlow Camp, continues to grow.

Idaho Mission Project (IMP) began four years ago, but has its roots in an older program called the Pacific Northwest Cross Connection. IMP has grown steadily since its beginning, but continues to serve its oldest community partner, the Twin Lakes Improvement Association. The TLIA has been working over the years on the Fish Creek Restoration Project, and Twinlow's IMP groups have been a part of planting native plants, building fences for cattle exclusion, and restoring the stream bed. All this work serves to keep the watershed system of the Twin Lakes running for years to come.

This year, along with working at Fish Creek, the Idaho Mission Project will be expanding its focus to the lake itself. IMP groups along with TLIA members will be collecting debris along the upper and lower Twin Lakes, moving the debris from banks and channels for the betterment of the watershed. The work will be done by youth volunteers from around the country, most from Washington and Oregon, who come to learn how to serve and be a community during their time together at Twinlow Camp.

Aquatic Lake Rake

Is the end of your dock a mess of aquatic weeds poking up out of the water, so the kids/grandkids don't want to swim there anymore? If so, do you need a Lake Rake? TLIA HAS THEM!

Twin Lakes Improvement Association (TLIA) has purchased three different types of lake rakes available for loan, with a little effort on your part, you can rid the swimming area around you dock of unsightly aquatic weeds. Your kids/grandkids will love you for it. And, you will be doing your part for the environment as each weed removed from the lake improves water quality by removing nutrients that eventually are returned to the lake when the plants die and decompose.

One of the rakes has an extension handle will allow you to reach 15-20 feet out from your dock to cut and remove weeds. We encourage everyone who has aquatic weeds growing around their docks or in front of their lake home to remove them from the lake.

The rakes can be borrowed from TLIA, have the rakes available at the annual meeting to view. We will go over the loan process at the annual meeting on July 8th, 2017.

Department of Environmental Quality Citizen Water Monitoring Program

Idaho Department of Environmental Quality has monitored water quality on Twin Lakes since 1975 through its Citizen Volunteer program.

TLIA has supplied ongoing volunteers to take water samples, for assessing the clarity and temperature profiles from sites on Upper and Lower Twin lakes. These samples are delivered to the Silver Valley lab, in Coeur d Alene for analysis, and the results are entered into long-term studies of our lake water quality.

This information helps identify long-term water quality trends and impacts from projects like the Fish Creek restoration and bank stabilization efforts on water quality.

Samples are taken monthly from May through September by board members Herb Minatre and Jeff Mott.
